Annual Meeting

5-8 July 2007

Similarities are Beautiful,
Vive la Diferença!

Lisbon, Portugal

FINAL PROGRAM

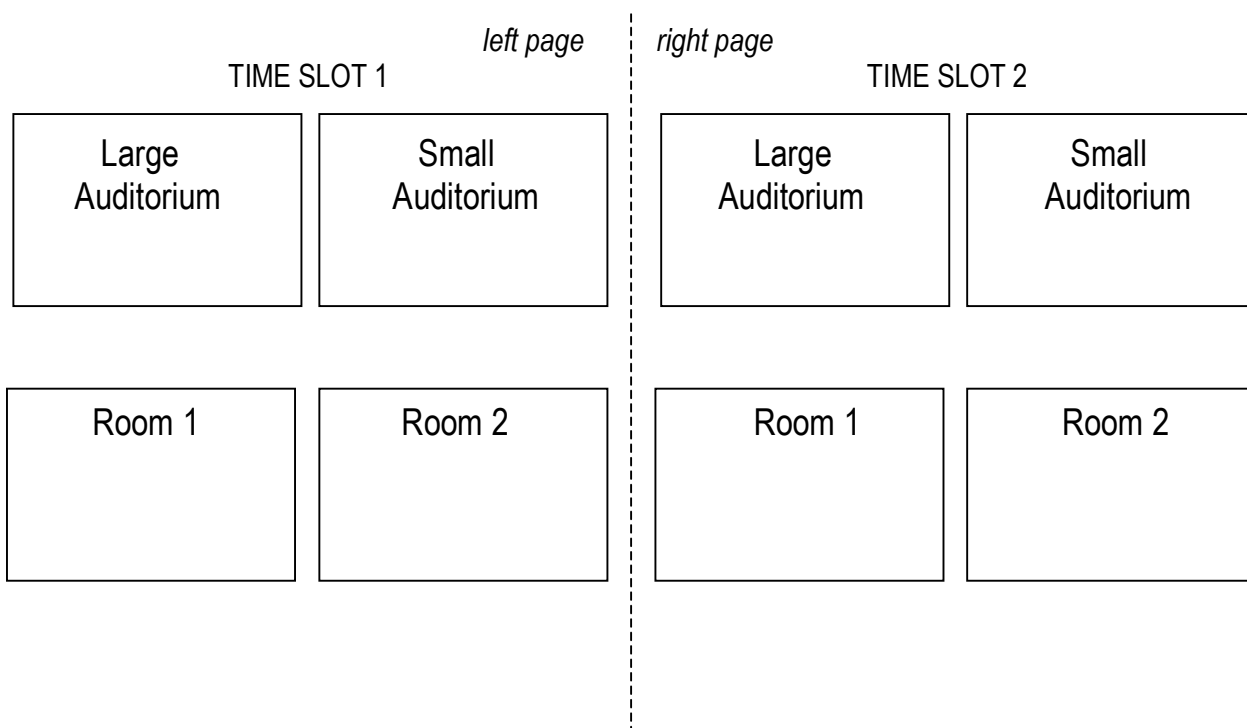

SEPI Conference 2007 in Lisbon

This is the program. The layout is different to last year's, in that the information for a given time slot is contained in one page made up of 4 boxes, each one representing a room/location.

There are 4 locations : a Large Auditorium, a Small Auditorium, Room 1 (main building) & Room 2 (outside the main building).

The auditoriums will host the symposia and paper sessions. The Rooms, which have a smaller capacity, will host mainly workshops, but also paper sessions and symposia.

For each time slot you will find the events on one whole page, ordered by location, in the following format:

Room 2

Pre-conference workshop

“Paradigmatic Complementarity in Practice: Helping the patient walk the path of therapy” - “Complementaridade Paradigmática: Auxiliando o paciente a percorrer o caminho terapêutico”

(this workshop is in Portuguese)

António Vasco, Nuno Conceição, Portugal

The main goal of this workshop is to introduce the “paradigmatic complementarity” integrative metamodel and illustrate it in practice. It is an integrative psychotherapy model aimed at increasing therapists’ responsiveness to patients. Responsiveness is here understood, in tune with W. Stiles perspective, both at the level of patients and problems characteristics (trait-like perspective) and at the level of more emergent processual states (state-like perspective).

LUNCH BREAK 12h30 – 14h00

Thursday Afternoon 14h00 – 17h00

Room 1

Room 2

Pre-conference workshop

The Phenomenology of Healing Transformations: AEDP in Action.

Diana Fosha, USA

Using clinical videotapes of actual therapy sessions, the role of the moment-to-moment tracking of somatic experience in therapeutic work will be considered in this pre-conference workshop from within the vantage point of Accelerated Experiential Dynamic Psychotherapy (AEDP).

Pre-conference workshop

Clinical Biopsychology: A Brain Model for Integration.

Robert Moss, USA

This workshop discusses a comprehensive treatment approach based on a brain model that addresses all three sources of negative mood states: (a) negative emotional memories (e.g., abusive parent); (b) ongoing factors (e.g., pain state); and (c) loss issues (e.g., divorce).

Mini-workshop

Working with Internal Conflicts as an Integrative Notion in Psychotherapy Integration.

Guillem Feixas, Spain

This workshop is designed to: (1) provide the clinician a method to identify internal conflicts using Kelly's Repertory Grid technique, (2) use those cognitive conflicts for case formulation, and (3) offer the clinician specific guidelines on how to provide patients with this formulation and assist them to explore these conflicts and resolve them using a variety of techniques (reframing, laddering, moviola, fixed role) adapted for this purpose. The presenter will explain and illustrate a protocol for working with internal conflicts, a mechanism that may be blocking change in a variety of clinical problems.

Mini-workshop

Working with Narrative and Emotion Processes in Brief Emotion-Focussed Psychotherapy: An Integrative Approach.

Lynne Angus, Leslie Greenberg, Canada

While emotions are markers of personally significant experiences and memories, the significance of those emotions are only "understood" when organized within a narrative framework that identifies what is felt, about whom, in relation to what personal need, wish, intention, purpose, or value. Using therapy session videotapes, this workshop will present an integrative approach to working with emotion (Greenberg 2002) and narrative processes (Angus 2006) in the context of brief Emotion-focused psychotherapy. Effective intervention strategies that facilitate a) accessing and differentiating primary emotions, b) articulating new emotional meanings and c) self-narrative identity reconstruction will be highlighted.

Mini-workshop

Shame – A Pervasive Difficulty for Therapists. Recognizing It, Reflecting on It and Repairing It.

Paul Gilbert, Thomas Schroder, UK

Therapists experience self-conscious emotions (shame and, to a lesser extent, guilt) in the course of their work, regardless of their theoretical orientations or professional backgrounds. If remaining unprocessed, such experiences place limitations on the use we can make of, and the benefits we can derive from, formal supervision and peer support. Whereof we cannot speak, thereof we must remain silent and, consequently, left to cope alone. The workshop will provide participants with an opportunity to reflect on difficulties in their own practice in a structured format, and to identify and understand the attendant self-conscious emotions.

While participants will have the option to keep these reflections private, their willingness to share aspects of relevant experiences with others would be helpful.
